

PLOT AGAINST LORD ROBERTS.

He Was to be Captured and Officers Killed.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS.

Plan Was to Fire Parts of Pretoria, Enter Houses Where British Were and Murder Them.

London, Aug. 10, 4:40 a. m.—The Daily News has the following dispatch from Pretoria, dated August 9th: A plot to shoot all the British officers, and to make Lord Roberts a prisoner, has been opportunely discovered. Ten of the ringleaders were arrested and are now in jail.

It is probable the plot was part of a conspiracy, of which the attempted rising at Kankersburg was the first indication.

Everything was prepared in the plot to make Lord Roberts a prisoner and shoot the British officers, and the conspiracy was only discovered at the last moment. The conspirators numbered about fifteen. They had planned to set fire to the houses in the extreme western part of the city, hoping that the troops would be concentrated there.

The plan was that then the conspirators were to enter all the houses occupied by British officers and kill the occupants. The conspirators were acquainted with the plot and several had been told off to secure the person of Lord Roberts and to hurry with him to the nearest command. Homes had been obtained for this purpose. When the British learned the names of the ringleaders, who were put under arrest. The affair has created a tremendous sensation.

DEWEY'S VIEWS ON CHINA.

Asked if a Condition of War Between That Country and This Existed, He Said "Yes."

Navy Can Do Little, but Our Warships Can Keep Things Quiet at Shanghai and Hongkong.

New York, Aug. 9.—A special to the Brooklyn Eagle from Washington, says:

Admiral Dewey said today: "I regard the news from the Philippines as particularly encouraging. Aguinaldo's lieutenants are surrendering one after another. Whatever show of resistance to our authority there is at the present time in the Philippines will be kept up until after our election in November."

"I regard the situation in China as exceedingly grave. The difficulties that our soldiers will have to contend with are many and varied. The conditions that exist there are very much the same as those in the Philippine islands."

When asked whether, in his opinion, there was really a condition of war now existing between this country and China, he said: "I should say most assuredly yes. They are killing our people and our soldiers are fighting hard for their lives."

"The navy can do little service in the Chinese difficulty. Our warships can, however, keep things quiet at Hongkong and Shanghai. Our naval commanders can do just as I did at Manila when Aguinaldo said he was going to take the city. I sent him word that if he did, he would not find one of our ships in the harbor. I would send the city to the ground. This I certainly should have done, if he had persisted in his purpose. The warships of the allies ought to be able to keep things straight in those cities, within reach of their guns on the coast."

Indiana and Thomas at Nagasaki.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Two army transports, the Indiana and the Thomas, have arrived at Nagasaki. The Indiana will take a battalion of the Fifteenth infantry and other supplies now aboard the Sumner and proceed to Tokyo, the Sumner going on to Manila. The Thomas sailed some days ago from Manila for San Francisco. She has on board three guns and Maxim guns, which Gen. MacArthur is sending to Gen. Chaffee. These will be put aboard the Indiana to be carried to Tokyo.

Catholic Affairs in Philippines.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Father T. C. J. A. Stearns of New Orleans, who went to Manila about a year ago with Archbishop Chapelle as his secretary, returned on the transport Sherman. He left for home last night. Archbishop Chapelle is in the Philippines as the representative of the holy see adjusting the affairs of the Catholic church there to meet the new conditions of American ownership. Father Stearns says that Archbishop Bernardino Nozaleda and the five bishops under him, all of whom are Spaniards and have been in control of the affairs of the church for five years, are giving the Archbishop Chapelle all the assistance in their power and are achieving good results.

The American officers, says Father Stearns, "are doing all they can to bring about peace, but in my mind it will be a long time before the present terrible warfare comes to an end."

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor, he used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor, who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off and on for some time. I had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No, I want better and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose, told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes. He did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried.'"

NEW FOOTBALL RULES.

Many Important Changes for the Coming Season.

New York, Aug. 9.—Walter Camp and the other members of the collegiate football rules committee have been busy for some time revising the football rules in anticipation of the coming season. The committee has finished its work and the revised rules are now in the hands of the printer. Radical changes have been made in several of the rules. The tendency has been to make the game more scientific, to stop unorthodox conduct and to take away the opportunities inferior teams have had to gain time over their superiors. The committee has changed the rule by which the team lost the ball for off side play. Hereafter the offense will be penalized ten yards in the case of a foul in the possession of the side having it before the foul was made. An important change is due to the outcome of last year's Harvard-Yale game, when Yale resurrected the old twenty-yard rule in order to hold the ball when near Harvard's goal. Rather than give up the ball, Yale dropped back twenty yards and kept the ball. The rule has been changed to read: "A team cannot take advantage of this rule a second time, unless the ball has exchanged possession after the team using the twenty-yard rule had first taken advantage of the rule."

Changes in the movement of the side line coaching rules led to the imposing of a ten-yard penalty for coaching from the side lines. Any unfair act committed by a player or any sympathizer may also be punished by a ten-yard penalty.

With the exception of these four changes, the rules of 1899 will prevail during the coming season.

Under the new schedule the Ogden and Rio Grandes have a standing of 1.00 by winning a game each. The teams will line up as heretofore. The same teams will play the day following at Ogden, while Jimmy Clippinger's crowd will journey to Pocatello and tackle Trapp's Indians. The last game played by the Short Lines does not figure in the schedule for the reason that it was called in the fifth inning on account of rain. Tomorrow will be ladies day at Walker's field.

SPORTING NOTES.

ID McPartland's seconds had to throw up the sponge last night in order to save their man from a more crushing defeat in his fight with whirlwind McFadden. The bout was at the Broadway Athletic Club. McFadden beat him off and would undoubtedly have knocked out McPartland had the latter's seconds not thrown up the sponge.

McPartland was groggy as he came up for the sixteenth round, and McFadden rushed him, flooring him with a body blow. McPartland was very weak when he gained his feet, and he clinched to save himself from going down again. McFadden beat him off and would undoubtedly have knocked out McPartland had the latter's seconds not thrown up the sponge.

The road race from Bountiful to Lagoon yesterday under the auspices of the Twentieth ward Sunday school was won by J. B. Hume. He started at scratch with Earl Clayton and Bert Cope. The Rio Grandes are in excellent form and can be counted upon to play a swift game. Dud Ristley will be in the box to shove out problems for the jocksters to solve. Gierhardt will pitch for Ogden.

NO IRRIGATING WATER.

Residents of the North and East Bench Enter Protests.

Residents of the north and east bench are without irrigating water, a condition that has existed for the past six weeks. Hardly a day passes but someone calls upon Superintendent of Irrigation Condie and protests against the stoppage of the flow. The ditches were supplied by water from City Creek, but some time ago the water caused the entire flow to be turned into the water pipes. The residents claim that they have water rights of over twenty years' standing, and they threaten to take the matter to the courts unless water is furnished them before everything on their premises is lost.

WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Robert C. Wilson Says Her Husband Deserted Her.

Emily Wilson is suing Robert C. Wilson for divorce. The complaint, which was filed in the Third district court, late yesterday afternoon, alleges that the marriage took place in Ogden on August 16, 1893. In July, 1895, it is further alleged, the defendant deserted his wife and has since failed to contribute anything toward her support. Mrs. Wilson, in addition to a decree, prays for the custody of their child, Frank, aged 6 years; $1,000 alimony, payable in monthly installments of $12, and the restoration of her maiden name, that of Emily Carr.

THE AUTOMOBILE IN GAY PARIS.

Cabs and Carriages Outnumber Them Fifty to One.

THE INTERNATIONAL RACE.

Charron Won by Covering 332 Miles in 9 Hours, 9 Minutes and 29 Seconds—38 Miles an Hour.

Special Correspondence.

(From our regular correspondent.) Paris, France, July 26, 1900.—When I returned to Paris after an absence of three years, I expected to see the streets and boulevards thronged with automobiles. I had heard so much about them. True, the automobiles are here, but the cabs and carriages still outnumber them by at least fifty to one. The French machine is not as ornate as the American, but it has a decidedly business-like and enduring appearance. They are under perfect control and thread the crowded streets and get mixed without damage in the closest jams. Their engineers extricate them from a tangle in the street with quite as much ease as do the drivers of other vehicles. But if the automobile does not move in the battalions through the streets of Paris, it is because its real habitat is the parks and surrounding country; there they travel at great speed, often forty miles an hour through dust and mud and over small obstacles. A few days ago, the annual international automobile cup race was won by the French, Charron, the famous adept in the automobile racing game, covered the 568 kilometers (about 352 miles) between the Ville d'Avray and Lyons in 9 hours, 9 minutes and 29 seconds, with an average of about 38 miles an hour from start to finish. Girardot, also French, business partner of Charron, with same kind of automobile, was second in 10 hours, 28 minutes and 23 seconds. The other contestants, Jenatton (Belgian), Winton (American), and De Knyff (French), met with various mishaps and were forced to abandon the race.

Winton, the sole American representative, was going well until near Chateaudun. He arrived at that place with one of the front wheels of his machine twisted until it would scarcely turn, and one of the rear pneumatic tires punctured. He managed to partially patch up the breakage and reach Orleans, but at this place found it necessary to stop altogether. At several points along the route Le Verrier, who ran independent of the race, was mistaken for Winton, and this confusion led to the report that Winton was second.

All the contestants had accidents, and Charron either had the fever or was more fortunate in quick repairs. The real contest from first to last was between Charron and Girardot. At Chateaudun, seventy-five miles, Charron ran independent of the race, but at Orleans, 108 miles, Girardot preceded Charron by 17 minutes, the latter having bent his axle three kilometers before Orleans. Charron again took the lead before Orleans, but at Orleans he struck a big dog, swerved from the road, passed between two trees, completely cleared a ditch and resumed his course in the road at forty miles an hour before Charron could reach control of the steering. "I thought I was a dead one," said Charron in relating his experiences afterward. Henri Fourmieu, one of the less daring of an automobile driver, was on the road with Charron. It is no unusual sight to see a small tricycle automobile ridden by a lady and gentleman in the environs of Paris for the purpose of sight-seeing. The roads are excellent, but sometimes there is rain and mud, and the machine, going at the rate of from thirty to forty miles an hour, will cover a man and his wife with thin mud from head to heel. They, as a rule, antidote the weather and are covered with water-proof clothing, having their faces and especially their eyes protected.

Many optimistic speculations and predictions are prevalent as to the new locomotor. The complete disappearance of the horse from the streets of cities is only a question of time, then when dogs are banished from the streets and the horse is kept as a Dutch parlor. With the disappearance of the horse, stables and by breeding filth, the flies, those insects that are now known to be the agents for the transmission of disease and epidemic diseases, will disappear. The reason why sweeping and washing streets and destroying garbage promotes health in cities, is, first, by ridding off the food which breeds the pestiferous and indestructible insects which are more destructive to human life than were the wild beasts of the forest when primitive man combated them with nothing but a club and a domestic dog. Flies and rats have been regarded in times past as scavengers, but are now known to be the purveyors of deadly diseases. The best scavenger is man, using the best appliances and his sanitation will be most intelligently directed when it has for its first object the destruction of the food supplies of flies, fleas, rats, mice, cats and spiders.

At Vincennes a somewhat inaccessible suburb of Paris, there is a most interesting exhibit, for you can see there the development of locomotion from the earliest infancy, its growth, its rapid automobile, of every conceivable shape from the old lumbering diligence with cumbersome batteries to spike, span, and spidery pleasure-carriages, driven by mechanism occupying little more space than an ordinary hat box. The bicycle is naturally in this category, and there is a splendid bicycle track shortly to be thrown open to the public. Here you may see the wooden-wheeled bone-shaker many of us remember wearing our legs with, thirty years ago, when bicycles first came into public favor, the big wheel, most monstrous with its ill-proportioned rear-wheel that succeeded, and finally the most recent "safety," a marvel of simple harmony in mechanism. September should be an attractive time at the Annexes, as there will be $14,000 worth of prizes then to be competed for, one of them being $6,000 for the most perfect wheel. America, I may add, is well represented at the Vincennes Annexes, as she has four exhibit spaces there out of forty-seven she occupies in the entire exposition.

BUT FEW WAGERS ON TONIGHT'S FIGHT

"Bob" Fitzsimmons and Gus Ruhlin Will Battle.

BOTH MEN IN GOOD SHAPE.

Of the Few Bets Made, the Odds of Ten to Eight are in Favor of "Fitz."

New York, Aug. 10.—Comparatively few wagers have been placed on the fight which is to take place in Madison Square Garden tonight between Bob Fitzsimmons and Gus Ruhlin. Of the few wagers placed, odds of 10 to 3 were laid that Fitzsimmons would win. Those who pin their faith to Fitzsimmons believe that his experience, original tactics and great generalship together with his great hitting, will more than offset Ruhlin's advantage in weight and youth.

Final exercise was taken by Fitzsimmons and Ruhlin at their respective training quarters last night. Each man finished his day's training in good shape, and both said they were in condition to fight. Fitzsimmons's exercise consisted of a spin on the road in the morning and fencing and sparring with Armstrong in the afternoon. Ruhlin's work was pretty much of the same character. Fitzsimmons weighs 158 pounds. Ruhlin tipped the beam at 160 pounds.

Several good judges who watched Fitzsimmons critically at his work expressed the opinion that the former heavyweight champion was a bit raw. They thought he had trained down too late.

When Fitzsimmons's attention was called to the comments on his condition, he said that he cared little for the opinion of others about his looks, and admitted that he was the best judge of his own condition, and that he never felt better in his life.

Ruhlin's friends can find no flaw in the physical condition of the "Akron Giant." They say he is physically fit, and are confident that he will take "Lanky Bob's" measure when they meet tonight. Ruhlin expresses himself as thoroughly satisfied with his condition, and told a party of friends that he will defeat Fitzsimmons as handily as he did Sharkey.

"Don't worry about me being nervous," Ruhlin added, "because there will be no occasion for it. My timidity, which was so apparent in my contest with Sharkey, was due to the fact that I had been beaten by Sharkey on a charge blow, and a desire on my part to prevent the sailor from repeating the trick. Sharkey has a very dangerous right hand, as he swings it very wildly when in action, an opponent is almost guessing as to where it is going to land. After I had judged how to stop them, my nervousness wore away and everybody knows how easily I beat him. My victory over Sharkey has given me the confidence I lacked prior to my meeting with him. Fighting with Fitzsimmons is an entirely different proposition. Fitzsimmons is a more or less clever fellow; you can watch yourself better against a clever man than with a rough and ready fighter of the Sharkey type."

Fitzsimmons's friends also point out that "Lanky Bob" has a greater variety of tricks than any other living pugilist, and they believe that he has several new ones that will give him the victory. Fitzsimmons introduced the solar-plexus blow, which was so effective in his fight with Corbett. It is also pointed out by the former heavyweight champion's admirers that his favorite can strike a much harder blow than Ruhlin. That Ruhlin is not a very hard hitter they insist was proven in his fight with Sharkey. The Akron Giant hit the sailor mostly on the head, and although he eventually knocked him into a state of helplessness it took him four long minutes to accomplish the trick. Fitzsimmons has always knocked his man out with a single blow on the head or body.

Ruhlin's supporters say that their confidence in the Akron Giant is due to the latter's wonderful improvement during the last six months.

In their opinion the Ohio man is just as clever as any big pugilist in the ring today. That he is clever with his hands, as well as with his feet, they insist was clearly demonstrated in his fight with Sharkey. In that contest he showed ability to fight a battle on lines marked out for him weeks before the event took place. They admit he was a bit nervous in the first round, but his timidity quickly wore away, and after that period Ruhlin had things all his own way. They also believe that youth and strength will tell in the Ohio man's favor and eventually give him the victory.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN USE CUTICURA SOAP exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and healing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chafings, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes, for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. CUTICURA SOAP combines delicate emollient properties derived from CUTICURA, the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odors. No other medicated or toilet soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and hands. No other foreign or domestic toilet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, viz., TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and BEST baby soap in the world.

COMPLETE EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT FOR EVERY HUMOR $1.25, consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT (25c.), to instantly relieve itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cure and cleanse the blood.
